

CPP50611 Diploma of Security and Risk Management

COURSE OVERVIEW

- This qualification is most applicable to security professionals or risk managers already established in their professions who seek to formalise their skills or to gain a more grounded theoretical approach to specialist security risk management skills. It will suit those who need to measure trends and develop predictions relating to issues that may cause harm or loss to an organisation's physical or human resources.
- Successful completion of this course will allow you to work at the highest levels in the security industry both in Australia and overseas, providing specialist security advice. The program is also well suited to individuals who need to conduct general risk management in a variety of industries.
- The course will also allow graduates to obtain their NSW Class 2A (Security Consultants) Licence.

COURSE ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

- There are no pre-requisite entry requirements for these programs; however we would expect you already work in the security industry and/or a risk management capacity. We would also expect that you exhibit a strong sense of leadership and focus, as this course ideally suits those who are serious about progressing and maintaining a career in the security industry.
- You must be at least 18 years of age and you must complete a Language, Literacy and Numeracy Test aligned to the Australian Core Skills Framework.
- Neat and tidy attire must be worn when attending a class along with enclosed footwear at all times.
- You must have access to the internet and a computer to conduct self paced study and research away from the classroom.
- You will also need to bring one piece of valid Photo Identification, preferably a NSW Drivers Licence or Passport.

DURATION & STRUCTURE

The course is structured to run over 12 months with students attending for 1 day of face to face tuition each month in a class based environment and combining this with self paced distance education conducting research and analysis. The course can also be completed entirely online if required.

Learning materials and resources will be provided electronically through the student learning portal on our website

Assessment will be a combination of practical observation and written theory. Assessment tasks will involve research and developing risk management plans and also involve case based scenarios.

Learners who have difficulty completing in the allocated time period will be given extra tuition and all learners have up to 24 months to complete.
