CHC43015 Certificate IV in Ageing Support

COURSE OVERVIEW

- This qualification reflects the role of support workers who complete specialised tasks and functions in aged services; either in residential, home or community based environments. Students will learn skills to assess the needs of older people with complex circumstances and plan and conduct group and recreation programs for older people.

- Students will also learn how to monitor services, implement and monitor health and safety policies and procedures and organise an effective work environment.

- This qualification is considered as progression for those in the industry who wish to move into supervisory, team leader or management roles. It is also used as building block for many who wish to go onto Higher Education or TAFE and study toward becoming an Enrolled or Registered Nurse.

- The course is fully accredited nationally recognised training.

COURSE ENTRY REQUIREMENTS

- For this new and revised qualification there are no longer any prescribed entry requirements. The course however would benefit those people already working in the industry who wish to further their study and progress in their careers.

- Be aware that working in this industry will require you to obtain a National Police check prior to commencing employment. Other States and Territories outside NSW have similar guidelines and if you move around Australia it is advisable to check with local licensing authorities. If you want to work in the ACT for example, you will also need to undergo a Working with Vulnerable People check.

- Be aware also that most care facilities will require that workers are physically fit and emotionally capable of working in the environment. This also means that workers do not have a pre-existing medical condition or a communicable disease that may put the health and safety of the client and other staff at risk.

DURATION & STRUCTURE

The course combines face to face classroom based learning, workplace based practical placement and assessment and self paced study and assessment. The program runs on a rotating calendar cycle, with students able to commence study at regular intervals and take up to 12 months to complete the qualification.

Students will be given all learning and assessment materials required and will have the ability to submit assignments and assessment electronically via a Student Portal or submit in person. Students will be allocated a trainer and assessor who they can contact at any time. If medication electives are selected students will be required to attend two face to face sessions to complete medication training.

Students will also be required to complete 120 hours of practical work placement and assessment or demonstrate evidence of this through existing work routines.
